

APPLICATIONS

Improving Your Potential

The Click! Colours are a great tool for identifying strengths and limitations. Obviously your strengths lie in your most dominant personality, but your potential for greatest growth lies in your least preferred sub-personality.

The following table outlines possible areas of growth for each of the sub-personalities.

Analysers Analytical, logical and problem solving <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <input type="checkbox"/> Try to become more patient with people you think are “fluffy” <input type="checkbox"/> Recognise that other personalities want, and even need team building type activities <input type="checkbox"/> Be careful not to hurt others’ feelings by being too blunt or dismissive 	Players Curious, impulsive and playful <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <input type="checkbox"/> Listen more and speak less <input type="checkbox"/> Don’t take on too many projects - finish the ones you have started <input type="checkbox"/> Don’t interrupt people and finish their sentences for them
Safekeepers Practical, careful and organised <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <input type="checkbox"/> Recognise that not everyone has the same ordered mind as you <input type="checkbox"/> Be willing to consider that change may actually be beneficial <input type="checkbox"/> Be prepared to recognise that a well prepared plan may be worth the risk involved 	Carers Sensitive, spiritual and emotional <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <input type="checkbox"/> Be willing to make decisions based on fact rather than emotion <input type="checkbox"/> Recognise that some ‘bottom line’ decisions have to be made <input type="checkbox"/> Don’t take it personally if someone disagrees with you or raises their voice 